

Gerald Woolever

Gerald Woolever is the senior executive account manager (SEAM) for the Department of Homeland Security Programs, Government Communications Systems (GCS). In this capacity, he reports to the vice president of Strategic Management and Business Development.

Mr. Woolever is the company's primary interface to the Department of Homeland Security (DHS), and is responsible for building customer relationships, identifying growth opportunities, and supporting related programs and pursuits.

Mr. Woolever has more than 35 years of experience in operations, and program and project management with industry and the U.S. Coast Guard, including major acquisitions oversight, logistics systems development, human resources, and government relations in both the public and private sectors.

Most recently, Mr. Woolever was senior vice president of the Field Operations division at Innovative Logistics Techniques, Inc., where he was responsible for three business units serving DHS, the Public Sector, and the DoD. He previously was the program executive at Boeing for USCG initiatives.

Mr. Woolever held numerous leadership assignments while serving as a Rear Admiral in the U.S. Coast Guard, including Assistant Commandant for Human Resources; Commander of the 9th District, with responsibility for operations on the northern maritime border of the United States; Director of Coast Guard Streamlining; Chief of Acquisition; and Commander, Maintenance and Logistics Command Pacific.

Woolever has a bachelor of science degree in engineering from the U.S. Coast Guard Academy, a master of science degree in electrical engineering from the University of Rochester, and an M.B.A. from the University of South Florida.

He is on the board of directors for EADS North America; a member of the HLS Executive Committee for the National Defense Industrial Association; a member of the board of directors of the National Capital Council Navy League of the U.S.; a member of the American Society of Naval Engineers; and a member of the American Society of Military Comptrollers and the Society of American Military Engineers.

Harris is an international communications and information technology company serving government and commercial markets in more than 150 countries. Harris is dedicated to developing best-in-class assured communications[™] products, systems, and services.